Violence has affected my life in a small way,
I see violence from movies, internet and news throughout the day.
People think violence is fun,
what happens when they get shot with a gun?
It makes me feel sad,
to see the future going bad.
The pictures I see are of gangs, bulling and people dying in a bad way violence is happening every day.
I wish the violence in the world are none,
and people joke around and have fun.

I feel violence is caused by people being mad
not believing in God and not having a hint of glad.
Violence is not fun when people say,
mean and hurtful thing when they may.
Teens turn to violence because they have nowhere to run,
parents don't talk to their daughters or sons.
Sometimes the pressure can get really bad,
and teens get depressed and sad.
Bulling makes teens feel like running away,
they feel life is where they cannot stay.
Violence is just not the way.

Showing how God wants things to be done,
respecting one another is how violence is won.
Showing people a way to be happy and glad,
instead of being mad and sad.
I will hope and pray,
that by showing peoples God's way.
That violence will end someday.
