Violence affected my life because it makes me scared. It makes me scared because everytime I go to the store at night, there can be anybody that can steal my money. Also is that my neighborhood is filled with people that are violence, and it make me feel that I'm not always protected. Also the violence changes my life because I can't always trust people. And another thing is that I can't be alone in the streets. And these are the things that violence affects my life.

The causes of teenage violence is that some do it because they think that their cool. And also some teenagers people do it because their friends say so. And another one is that they do it because the person is gay. Lastly, some do it because a person call him stupid. These are the causes of teenagers violence.
