Violence has not affected me or neither of any family members of mine. Although it has had affected one of my friends, my friend one day got into a fight and got beat up with a girl so now she does not want to hang out with girls and most of the time she does not like to leave from her house from her experience.

Violence can be caused by several reasons such as drugs, alcohol, gangs, fights, and bullying. All these reasons are not very good. Now these days younger kids are starting to get into smoking, drinking, and much more. What gets kids into these horrible habits are rather not enough attention from their parents or bigger adults manipulating the young ones. What I mean by manipulating, convincing them to do things they’re not supposed to be doing until a certain age.

I have also been hearing that a lot of bullying have been affecting the young ones because of rather a kid judging another kid, by harassing and or threatening them. Also bullying has been going with bad reputation. People that bully are very insecure they have

The reason for my decision to move to another city is not because I was unhappy with the city itself. I actually enjoyed living there and many of the people I knew will be missed. However, I believe that it's time for me to move on and explore new opportunities. I think this is a good move for me both personally and professionally, and I am excited about the new challenges that await me.

I have been researching and planning this move for a long time. I have visited the new city several times and I feel comfortable with the decision. I am also looking forward to the new city's culture and lifestyle.

I hope you understand that this decision is for my own personal growth and development. I am grateful for the time I spent in the city and I will always cherish the memories I made there. I am confident that this move will be a positive step for me.

As always, I appreciate your understanding and support. If you have any questions or concerns, please don't hesitate to ask.

Sincerely,

low self-esteem so they take out their anger at everybody else. Especially if they do not like the person, everything that person does is going to annoy them. Drugs; younger kids do it because they probably think it sounds cute, cool, when they hear about it they want to try it, then when they try it they start getting addicted to it and they like the feeling. Some with drinking they try it and start liking it. Young kids should not be drinking alcohol until they are twenty one years of age. That goes for liquor, wine, or even beer.

What convinces kids to get talked into gangs, is to prove that your tough and maybe if your friends are in gangs you would like to see how it is. I would not like to be in a gang because it is not safe; you don’t have to prove your tough by showing it if you know your tough that is all it matters. In gangs it says it all, like, because you do drugs, and get convinced into somethings like smoking and drinking. In gangs you have to do what they tell you or they kick you out, hit you, manipulate you, or kill you.
Something that younger kids can do to help improve less violence is to write to the governor and tell them that a good suggestion for less violence is doing community meetings once a month. Even programs that are very interesting to get the kids’ minds only focused on positive for a positive future like education and not compregendering the negative. That is my option for improving less violence in our community. Lastly, those are the causes of youth violence and what can younger kids can do about violence, in our very own community to help.
