There was a girl named Julie, who came from California to Boston. When she started school, girls in her class were making fun of her because she was darker than them. The Bullies' names were Kristina, Bianca, and Miranda. When Julie was walking home the girls started to follow her, Julie began to run and so did they. When Julie got to her house her father was drunk. As Julie got ready for bed, her father went in her room and started to beat her. Julie woke up the next morning and found so many bruises on her arms, and a Black eye.

Then Julie started to walk to school after she got dressed, and a girl named Kelly started to walk with her. Kelly said, "The girls that bully you Bully me as well! It's not fair because we have a different skin color than them!" Julie was surprised Kelly was talking to her, but she replied and said, "I know if only they were us they would understand what we go through!" At lunch Kelly & Julie sat together and ate. When they went outside the girls were there waiting for them. Kelly and Julie were walking when the girls started to throw rocks at them, and Kelly threw an empty water-bottle at them. The girls told the teacher, and Kelly and Julie got into trouble. When Julie got home her parents were drunk (as usual). Her mother said, "Eat your food." Julie said, "I'm not hungry, I'll eat later." Julie's dad held her still when her mom shoved the food into her mouth. Julie went to her room and started to cry when she stopped. She called Kelly if she can go to her house. Kelly said yes.

Julie snuck out her window to get there. When Julie got to Kelly's house, Kelly asked what happened. Julie said, "Promise not to tell anyone, but my parents get really drunk, and beat me. Kelly was very surprised, but told her mom what they do to her when Julie was sleeping. The next day when Julie went home the police were at her house, and her parents were in separate police cars. Julie knew that Kelly told her parents, but was a little mad. She didn't know where she would live now, but Kelly said, "I'm sorry I told them, I just didn't want them to hurt you really bad, but my parents agreed that you can live with us." Julie was happy, because she got to live with her best friend. Ever since Then Julie and Kelly never got Bullied again, and Julie never got beaten since her parents went to jail.
