There's a lot of violence out there today. My opinion is that all this should stop. It affects me because says, my friend gets abused and is going to affect me, how? Good question, it affects me because what if she gets abused right in my face? Well, that's sad and not pretty to see. It also affects the environment because the people might think bad of the bad of the person and be scared of her/him. If the person who abused the child doesn't get taken by the police, the people in the neighborhood might be scared if they have a child, they might think that person might abuse him/her. Is this good to have in your environment? Yes it is, why? Because no innocent child should be abused or bullied.

In my opinion every child should have a good education and a good future. In this case, the child might be been depressed and sad and thoughts of not living. She might have thoughts like "if this never had happened I would have had a better life! I wanna die!" kids shouldn't have these thoughts because they need to enjoy their lives. But, what I don't get is that what is their intention for them to do that? There's no purpose for it at all.
I wonder why they do that. I live. I wonder if they ever get upset. They just do it. Youth violence is like being bullied or being abused. The people should just stop. If I had a chance to be in their shoes, I would stop. I can't think of any way to do that, though. What can we do to stop this? Well, when you see something, you should call the police. And try not to get yourself hurt. But I would like to do something about it. Do something about it, you need to. The consequences. Also, if you don't know about yours but I hope your opinion is like mine. It's not ridiculous. It isn't our future. We will affect people. Because you wouldn't like it. I hope you wouldn't want a future like that. Because I have kids, I will affect them.
I will forget my past now forever. I will start a new life. I know it will be hard, but I will try. I will make new friends and build a new world. I will have a new identity, a new name. I will start fresh, leave my past behind. I will not think of my past, I will not remember it. I will move on, I will start new. I will not look back, I will not regret. I will build a new life, a new world. I will be happy, I will be free. craziest thing that ever happened to you mom?! "What do I answer? It may be painful for me to even talk about it. People, kids help us stop this youth violence in our city, town, state, country! We as a team need to do the right thing. We wouldn't like it so why would they?!
