"Do The Right Thing Contest"

Violence is a problem in society today and has been for a long time now. It can happen anywhere, like schools, playgrounds, etc. There are many different kinds of violence, for example, youth violence, domestic violence, and verbal violence/abuse. It can cause lots of problems, conflicts, tragedies, or destruction in places or people's lives. And it affects people in different ways.

A type of violence that's very common in our society is youth violence. It can reach high extreme levels. It increases an amount of hostility/unfriendliness. The motivation of violence also has to do with a child's childhood, where they grew up or how they lived. There's a lot of youth violence that can include like shooting in schools or stealing or any crime's like this, now a days teens decided to start/do. And taking decisions in doing drugs or alcohol addictions that can lead them to even worse things.

Another type of violence is domestic violence. It happens starts at home. For example, physical abuse causing trauma/mental/emotionally/physical damage to children in the house or family or who even is fighting. Domestic violence happens between a spouse, children, family members basically... violence. We can all stop the impulse of violence. Violence sometimes does not exist in my mind. I am not at peace with myself. I have to stop the violence we see in the world.

Therefore, I believe that violence exists.

Through it, I believe that amid the lives of people, we can bring peace. We can get resolved. The person who brings people's lives together is the one creating a peaceful place. Most violent crimes, and also feelings of outburst, boring, or misunderstanding some-
