Do the wright thing

Violence has affected my life in many ways. When I turn on the TV there’s violence, when I walk back from school I see violence. There’s violence in every aspect of my life and that has made a big difference. Violence is all over the world.

It has affected my life greatly. The things that I can do are limited do to violence. I can’t go outside at certain hours. I can’t go to certain places. So basically everything in my life has been affected by it. When I get home late or forget to call my mom to tell her where I am she gets worried. After getting home she gets really mad at me. This is all caused by violence. She’s worried because she knows that the world we live in cannot be trusted.

Like her I don’t trust it either, I no one knows when violence will strike again or who will be its next victim. That’s why I always try to be nice, I never insult anyone. Other the year’s eve seen how violence has affected the kids around me so, I consider myself one of the lucky ones that hasn’t been affected that much by violence.

Everyone knows it’s bad but, most people ignore it. I think it’s because they feel nothing can be done to stop it. The reasons may vary but, the truth is if people really wanted to they could stop it. Sometimes it’s impossible to stop it but if there’s less of it. It could be controlled easier. If we all do something about it then it could at least be reduced. I now everyone is better off without violence. I’m sure no one likes it or approves of it because someone who approves of violence is very ignorant.

The causes of violence can be some of the following: bad parenting skills, emotional breakdowns, misunderstanding, and disagreements. I would say these are the major reasons that create the violent world we live in now. Youth violence is something that shouldn’t be taken lightly. I would say that every single child in this world has encountered violence one way or another.

“When will it end?” is something I ask myself every day, but the truth is that I don’t know if it will ever end. What I do know is that every single person on earth can do something about it. Parents can teach their kids that violence is bad. When drugs are eliminated from the world. When people start understanding one another. That’s when violence will stop. And maybe that still wouldn’t be enough.

I can’t do it alone but with the help of others maybe together we can make the world the world a better place. I hope this happens one day. I probably won’t be alive when that day comes or it may never come at all, but I know for sure it can be stopped and all it takes is a little courage and understanding from everyone.
Do the right thing.
