Do the Right Thing Contest

There are safe places, and not so safe places, places where everyone is nice to one another and places where violence is surrounding everyone. There are things people can do to stop/prevent it, it takes some thought, but with help from experienced people, it is possible. The issue about violence is, people think of it as an answer, an easy way out, something fun. Once those thoughts are erased from a violent one’s mind, there won’t be as much violence. Peace.
