Doing the Write Thing

I'm writing about bullying. The reason why bullying affects my life is because I had been bullied well, I still am. It affects my life in many ways but my first reason is because sometimes I feel like I want to kill myself because I hate being bullied and I'm sure that other people won't like to be bully either. My second reason why bullying affects my life is because just because of bullying people or people can try to hurt themselves or kill other people. And this can happen to me because I'm being bully as well. My third reason is because people run away because they don't want to be bullied anymore just like how I won't I don't want to be bullied anymore. My fourth reason is because everything that I'm writing could happen to me like I could run away just because of being bullied. We need to stop the bullying in this world because bullying can make a lot of people do crazy stuff like kill themselves or run away for just one person making fun of them or calling them names. Those are all the reasons why I chosen to write about bullying so people can stop the bullying and put an end to this. In conclusion this is all the reasons why bullying affects my life but not just only mines but also people that are getting bullied just like how I am even till this very day.
