Violence NEEDS to stop!

What's Violence? It's something that's ruining this world. People are rude and cruel to do something like that! I get how they can take their anger out on other people by yelling... but KILLING? Come on let's not get over board here! Some people get forced to do it! Like if they want to be in a gang or something. But my question is WHY? Why end someone's life for no apparent reason? WHY?

How has violence affected my life? Well in elementary school there's girls that think their cool and tough and thinks it's fun to make fun of people. So I would obviously get mad and take matters into my own hands and tell them off. But what I'm trying to say is girls like that at my school would try to act tough and all and say rude things about other people. Then when you try to stand up to them, they're looking for fights... It's affected me because I soon got my feelings hurt. But sooner or later I realized girls can be unkind at times so I never really took it offensively.

Youth violence is caused by Anger, Drugs, Drinking, and many more. Sometimes a person can be really mad at something and get over dramatic about it. And people drink and don't know what they are doing and out of the blue kill someone. Also, If you want to be in a gang they might force you to do something bad in order to get in.

I can start a petition in order to stop youth violence. And get 120 or more students/parents to sign it. I can also make an presentation to show how youth violence effects peoples lives and others too! What I don't get is how someone could just END someone's life like that! "( It makes me scared and insecure. When I am alone or with strangers... X)

I WANT IT TO STOP! ^^

My life has been affected by violence because of things I hear on the news and elementary school. It's affected me because now I feel insecure.
about myself, I feel like I'm not safe alone or with people I don't know... I feel like my day will end... Why has this world come to this? Why can't we be nice and peaceful and loving? Why? Instead we have to be killing people... Come on!
I don't like violence nor will I ever... 😞
