Violence has affected me in a lot of ways. Maybe it is the things I do or the words I say. And I really wish violence would end but from my point of view it looks like it’s just begun. My cousin got shot nine times in the chest and when we heard the news it was not the best. Massachusetts is the worst place to be. You can hear gunshots while you’re watching TV. Violence happens a lot at school. I’m scared when I go swimming somebody’s going to drown me in the pool. Violence has been happening a lot around the world. Violence has been happening since my mom was a little girl. Violence is very sad I really hate it when men try to make women mad. And I really hate child abuse and when they say what happened they make up an excuse. I’m writing this essay for you today to show you why violence is not good for you any day. And I really hope the violence will stop and if it does not I’m going to call cops.
