Fiction Poem

Violence is like a rotten apple that falls of a tree.
Violence puts the happiest people in pain.
Pain is not good for anyone. Violence is not good for any one.
Violence is something dark bearing nothing but bad things.

That rotten apple that falls off the tree is never good for anything.
The violence that goes on is never good for anyone.
What I and any one can do is not fear violence and tries to stop it.
Violence is much worse than fear. That is why violence is so dark
And painful.

Violence affects the lives of many. Many that don't know or can't do anything to try and stop it.

Many of people lose loved ones to violence. They lose loved one to that Rotten apple that falls off the tree.

They lose them to the dark pain in the rotten apple. Violence is never good.