Violence

Violence is like an never ending war

Its like people never stop dying

It continues till not one single soul is left

Like the whole world is that one person’s enemy

People from all different races, colors, contries etc. killed for the simplest reasons

Now a days everything’s based on your background, looks and what you got

Everyone cares only about money they start killing for money get obsess with money and can’t lived without it