Violence

Violence is a cold and dark use of a word from the streets.
Violence is not the way to treat, hearing the coldest and harsh words that is hurting everywhere.
I was tired and I want to relax some place over there.
There that have clam streets and peaceful people who share.
But no one cares.
School is the same, it can't show any respect and love for one another.
But words they use but they think it don't bother.
We are treated as ghost that are walking, they are silent and they are the one who are never talking.
Bullying is not the answer but the black and blue that is in your left eye.
In some community, kids are learning from the bad alleys.
Problems are always passing on like a flu or disease.
Which makes the problems to increase.
We are all young adults but we are still young children still learning about life.
As an individual, I can change the world at a time.
Maybe, solving the problem with fighting or yelling and make a straight line.
The line we remember that we all know is violence is never the answer.
