Young Violence

What is youth violence? Youth violence is violence involving young people between the ages of 10 and 24. Youth violence includes verbal abuse, bullying, hitting, and fist-fighting these have a lot of consequences but not all result in serious injuries and deaths. Youth violence also includes serious violent and delinquent acts like aggravated assault, robbery, rape, and homicide committed by and against young people. This is youth violence.

How has youth violence affected young people lives? Youth violence have affected many live by making people afraid. Fear of going to school because of bullying. Fear of going outside because of gangs. This make many young people change their lives like the way they act, look, and feel. This are some affects youth violence have in young people lives.

What are the causes of youth violence? There are a lot of things that cause youth violence. Like for example peer pressure. This is because when young people feel pressure from their friends or other people around them they choose to do things that they don't want to do like bullying someone else. Another example are broken homes. This is because broken homes can cause children to question their self-worth and to feel grief, guilt and confusion making them get involve in youth violence. This are some causes of youth violence.

What can we do about youth violence? There are things we can do about youth violence. One way is that adults can help young people by being able to see the warning sights and supporting this young people with counselling, and teaching them anger management. This is because this can help young people control their anger and feelings. Another way is to try to stop the gangs. We can do this by making our communities do programs to prevent gang involvement. This is what we can do about youth violence.

In conclusion, youth violence affect young people lives. It has causes for it to happen. Also, we can do things to stop it. Finally, youth violence is a big problem between young people in the ages of 10 to 24. This is Youth violence.