In my world there are people that has suffered more than me and wont others to suffer just like them so they can make others feel bad about themselves like how the bully feels in there mind. My thoughts of my experience were pain ful and sad thought of them calling me names. Thinking about them again makes me feel like I should have stood up to then when they first started to bully me. My opinion is that bullying is a waste of education and peoples lives, and because every second of the day people are dying because people are being bullied emotionally and physically. Also my other opinion is that people that have suffered by being bullied shouldn’t take these live they should stand up to bullies or tell a teacher, parent or an adult that can help you. That is how youth violence is in my life.

During my years of elementary school that is when youth violence affected my life. I in elementary school I was picked on because of my weight and how I look. ed to people. When I got picked on by the older kids everyday of this school year, I got scared to tell the adults what happened because I didn't want to get beat up by the older kids. I lost all of my friends, so I thought about hating myself the rest of the school year. But one day I had stood up for myself and told the big kids that I had it with the names calling and I started to fight back. But then I stopped and went inside and told the teacher and they didn't mess with me anymore after that. That is how youth violence affected my life.

In everyone's life youth violence is caused by gangs, bullies and money. The reason gangs are caused because some kids don't have a father or mother in there life that they can look up to and gangs embrace them, so they can let them join and soon die because of joining. The reason for bullies are because of something happening to them and it makes them feel very sad or feel hurt. So they go and pick on/bully them because they want people suffer like the bully dose. The reason why money is caused because kid might not have things that they want like other kids, so they surround and steal the things that they want from the person. That is the reason why youth violence is caused.

Lastly I should help to make a solution in youth violence and ways that I could stop it are helping a bullied victim, become a role model for others that don’t have role model and hanging out with the right people. One way is helping a bullied victim by becoming there friends and not a bystander with the bully. Second way is becoming a role model to other kids that are younger than me that don’t have a role model to look up to. Last way is that I should walk with the right person and not end up like the girl got shot at a play ground. Those are ways that helps stop youth violence. And that is how I can help end youth violence.

In conclusion other that I can relate to. My opinions are that bullying is a waste of time and people’s life. Also that my other opinion is that people have suffered from bullies shouldn’t take there lives because of some person. My other experience is that I choose not to be intimidated by them so I just ignore them. That is how youth violence is in my life. And that is how youth violence effects me as an individual and as a human being.
