Violence

Violence is not the answer to problems. Violence is not something good. Some problems can become a crime which is violence. People get killed every day because the killers don't care about peace when the world needs more of it because it has more peace people would still probably have there lives today. Violence is something you shouldn't get your self into. Maybe if people be good to each other maybe there wouldn't be violence.