Youth violence is one of the biggest problems in the United States. I don't know why people use violence with their kids, knowing that they can go to jail. When you see kids fighting in school and you have a little brother, you get scared thinking if your brother was one of those kids fighting. If you have a little brother and you're watching violence channels and you let him see it, that is your fault. If people don't stop the youth violence soon, our will not be better in the future; it will be worse.
