Violence Poem

Violence is the way of life for people that been hurt so they find away to get back and hurt other people

Variable people like families get hurt because they get caught in the cross fire

People try to stop violence but money people fall but if we work together this world can be clean of violence