Violence is an action that happens everywhere around the world in communities, neighborhood, and school. I feel negative towards violence because we're all human beings and we should respect each other not kill. I think violence should stop because a lot of people are getting killed by violence and it may get out of hand. I had some experiences with youth violence at school because people get into physical fights and get hurt. Not only in school but in my neighborhood as well because young people physically hurt other people in my neighborhood as well because young people in my neighborhood hurt other people in my neighborhood.

Violence affects my daily life because sometimes when I go places I don't feel safe. I have to make certain decisions where I go and what I do. I also have to be careful with what people I hang out with because of violence. I take different routes home every single day because of the violence in my neighborhood that's happening. Sometimes kids come up to me and fight me for my stuff and try to rob me even if they are in elementary school, so I walk different. ways everyday because of that. If I go places, sometimes I go with someone I know or with an older family member because of violence.

Many things happen in communities, schools, and neighborhoods that cause youth violence a lot for many reasons. Bullying is one example that causes youth violence because other kids get hurt everyday at school and they get tired of it, some of them even take their own life which is an act of violence. Gangs also cause youth violence because many youth people get killed by gangs and shot by gangs also. Drugs are also a big part in causing youth violence because people kill youth people to take their drugs and they turn crazy, and they get that mentality in killing people for drugs too. Lack of money or resources cause youth violence because some people don't have things that other people have and they may use violence to get those things. Sometimes other people kill people or hurt them to get things they want from them because they don't have it because of lack of money. They might not be police stations or many cops to contact to stop the youth violence happening in the community, and at school also including neighborhoods.
I can be able to do something about youth violence in my community to prevent or reduce it. I can be a positive role model to those youth people and show them how to do the right thing. Helping people affected or involved in youth violence may reduce the amount of violence and prevent it. If someone hurt I can help them by sticking up for them to whoever is bothering them so there won't be violence against the people who are hurt, including others too. I could talk to the teachers in school into helping stop youth violence in the community and at school.

In conclusion, violence is an action that happens around the world in communities, neighborhoods, and schools. I feel negative towards violence because we're all human beings and we should respect each other not kill. I think violence should stop because a lot of people are getting killed by violence and it may get out of hand. I had some experiences with youth violence in the community, neighborhood, and school. I had experiences in school because people get into physical fights and get hurt. Not only in school but in my community neighborhood as well because sometimes young people physically hurt other people.
My solutions into preventing and reducing youth violence include helping those who are most affected, and involved in youth violence. Telling teachers in school to help in stopping youth violence or reducing youth violence in community, neighborhood, and school.
