Do The Write Thing Poem

March 1 2013

everybody is dying
nobody has remorse people going by acting like nothing ever happen when they don't realize that they're taking these children from their mothers and fathers who had cared and nurtured them since birth if you could see the faces that these parents have when they find out that their babies had been taken away from them all because the color of there jays the sign or gang they "reppin" or oh "oh you was popping off at my boy" or these streets that people claim to be "theirs" or these hats people are wearing hats come on hats made of fabric a material material that people are killing for because you wearing this hat but you don't "rep my crew" you got young little boys and girls joining these "crews" too bad they didn't just stay in school we're they could be protected away from the outside where those guns and violence come into play stop the violence but not to create only peace but to let our generation have more young doctors lawyers police officer anything that these once children have once strived to be SO STOP KILLING
because the color of there jays or these signs or gangs that they "reppin"!
