Hook: boom, boom!

Intro: I was at the new york carnival. I was listening to music.

Body #1: I went to new york carnival with my father, uncle’s and brother. We were dancing, eating, laughing having a good time until we heard boom, boom, boom! Someone started shooting a gun. Everyone started running in different directions.

Body #2: Youth violence begins when kid want to show off. They join gangs to fight other gangs. They start to do drugs and do crimes. Some start to sell drugs to make money and go to jail.

Body #3: I can stay away from by not joining a gang and never using drugs. I can stay out of trouble if I’m mining my business. Also can make better choices when it comes to friends.

In conclusion violence make the world a horrible place.
