Violence

The way violence has affected my life is when my parents don't get along and there are always arguing and my dad gets physical on me and my mom. All you hear is a scream from my mom who is pleading and praying this won't happen again. My dad leaves for a couple of days without a trace of him knowing if he will do the same thing he did to my mom to someone else. I told my mom, "Don't worry he won't be coming back but she won't listen with her soft voice. He comes back saying sorry after that he does the same thing except he gives my mom a black eye and a broken arm. Sometimes I don't go to school just to protect my mom from anybody and a person I am disappointed to call a father. Finally, I had the guts to finally call the cops and arrest him. Until that day my mom was a changed person. Never again will he lay a hand on me or most definitely my mom.
I think the cause of youth violence are caused by stuff they see at home and neglect or at television. They will have the urge to fight like on TV. So that's one of the causes of youth violence. Another way is that people by accident might hit someone and the kids will get really mad and fights. The way people and I can do about youth violence is to make posters about what to do when you see bullying taking place or any kind of youth violence that occurs. Thank you for hearing my story.
