VIOLENCE

Violence has affected a lot of people. Most of those people are young people. These young men and women are affected by violence physical ways and mental. These violent things get started my misunderstandings. If these young people took time to get to know the problem they are in, they would not have to start a problem. They don’t understand the situation they are in and they just assume that they have to use violence to fix it, but honestly you don’t have to use violence for anything. If those young people just realized that, there would be nothing to worry about.

I have also been affected by violence. I had to watch innocent people get hurt or even almost die because of violence. I really didn’t like it but I felt like that if I got evolved that I would get hurt just as much as the victims. That’s how I felt, that I did not have a choice to help anyone. All I could do was stay and watch these TERRIBLE things happen to the people that I did not personally know, but understood. Maybe some of those people deserved to get punished for whatever they did, but violence is not a punishment, it is cruelty.

I have wanted to try and stop violence for a long time. I have started small with my life only. Since violence starts with misunderstandings, we can end it with understanding. If you want to stop this cruelty called violence, when you sense that violence is near try and explain yourself quick. Or do what I did not and stand up for people getting treated so cruel.
